A Grant Funding CASE-STUDY

The Requirement

The South African Treasury Department launched a project to create a million jobs in the country by matching job creation in the private sector with funds to double the numbers. The department needed to track the funds and how their deployment were managed. Detailed reports were needed as well. A solution needs to be robust, transparent and auditable

The Challenges

- Worthy recipients needed to be chosen based on strict criteria
- Funds needed to be dispersed and tracked accurately
- Projects needed to be tracked
- Detailed reporting needed to be produced
- Robust auditing required

Strategic Response

- Comprehensive Market Analysis for suitable solutions
- Acquisition process embarked upon
- Praxis-GMS web chosen

The Engagement

- The teams spent three months aligning the business requirement to the proposed system and changes
- The engagement was a cyclic process that resulted in a comprehensive specifications document
- The base system was then aligned to the changes and the support and training structures were implemented

Results

- Support and training

Full support structures implemented. Support can be made available on a 24-hr basis. Continuous training was provided to the client's team.

- Audit Excellence

Over the 12 years of operation there has been no system audit irregularities.

- Over a decade of successful service to the client

Project has been extended three times due to the initial success Thousands of successful disbursements and hundreds of projects awarded and tracked accurately.
